3 steps to... longer lashes

Want to knock years off your face? Forget the facelift and focus on your lashes instead!

1 Quick-fix flutter

The first rule to de-age your face is to curl your lashes. QVS Eyelash Curler, 99p, Superdrug, is a bargain. Position it at the base of your lashes, close gently and hold for 10 seconds, then release. Next, apply two coats of Clinique Lash Power Feathering Mascara, £18. The fluffy, bristle-packed wand stretches lashes for a full, fanned-out look. We love Maybelline mascaras and their new Colossal Go Extreme, £6.99, doesn't disappoint on volume. Warning! Don't apply mascara to your lower lashes – it can create the look of dark circles.

2 Instant volume

False lashes are reusable and they're easier to apply than ever before. Add a thin layer of glue to the spine and wait 10-15 seconds for the adhesive to go tacky. Looking down into a mirror, apply to the lash line and press down gently. Eylure Lengthening Lashes No 80, £4.95, now have a reinforced curve to the band, so they're less likely to ping off at the inner or outer corner. Bourjois 2-in-1 Tweezers and False Eyelash Applicator, £4.99, is a useful tool for false first-timers to help place and press down lashes, minus clumsy fingers.

3 Long-term length

If your natural eyelashes are short and sparse, invest in a conditioning serum that delivers vitamins to the root. Elizabeth Arden Prevage Lash Enhancing Serum, £85, is pricey, but it really gets results. In two weeks, 100 per cent of testers saw longer lashes. For 24-hour glamour, treat yourself to semi-permanent extensions like Nouveau Lashes, from £85, nouveaubeautygroup.com. Individual eyelashes are glued on to your own to add length and volume for up to six weeks. They're definitely worth the splurge for a special occasion, like a wedding or birthday.
