Initial signs

advice

"This can be the first time clients have felt the need to mention skin or their skincare. Most clients in their 30s do not recognise any signs of ageing before they do, but we know in this business that prevention is always better than cure! The very first tiny lines around the eye area can be attributed to dehydration only and can be addressed easily with a light eye cream or gel. From Oe Eye Rescue Gel is perfect for dark circles, puffiness and fine dehydrated skin beginning to show (tiny lines). Eye products are normally the easiest skincare purchase for the client to make, of course if this client has been a regular for some time she should have already been recommended all the basic cleanse, tone, moisturise and protect. The tony-something are beginning to be more interested in facial treatments and from Oe Orange Elements Skincare we have 'Easing Time' a one hour facial treatment that is designed to offer age prevention. The main aim of this treatment is to ensure the skin is completely hydrated, using a professional only Algae Face Mask, an Eye Mask and good cleansing and massage products, many only activated at the point of use. Homecare of course is very important and all Oe moisturisers have a sun protection factor so again the very minimum she should be doing at home is cleanse, tone and moisturise."

During the 30s, the skin's natural cellular activity weakens, leading to the first signs of ageing. Levels of collagen and elastin rapidly begin to diminish as the level of cell turnover continues to decline. Daily regimes should incorporate products that feed the skin with hydrating, revitalizing and illuminating ingredients.

The Hyaluronic Acid Night Crème from derma e is an extra-rich, deeply penetrating crème, infused with vitamins A and E, ester-C, allantoin and macadamia oil, drenching skin in moisture. Plumping skin tissue, the formula works to reduce fine lines and wrinkles for smoother softer and younger-looking skin.

While dragonfruit slows down the aging process, increasing skin colour intensity and luminosity, caviar extract activates skin's metabolism and microcirculation. The range comprises an Anti-Age Day Care, Night Care, Fluid and Eye Fluid.
